THE PHILOSOPHY OF FAITH.

Discourse By Rev. F. E. Lawler at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church
 Last Evening.

The "Philosophy of Faith" was the subject of Rev. F. E. Lawler's discourse at the Cumberland Presbyterian church last evening. He chose for a text Hebrews xi, 1: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Dr. Lawler, in opening, said it should be our first consideration how to please God.
 It should be taught the children on the parent's knee, those at play and at school. It should engage the mind of those in their prime and of those who are tottering toward the grave.
 Why? If God is displeased, disaster must follow, and if we please Him we shall gain two worlds. Without faith it is impossible to please God. He is that connect, God, we must believe that He is. We may have temporal pleasures without the exercise of faith, but the spiritual we cannot have unless we trust Him. Flowers, sunshine and other pleasures of every-day life we may have. Whatsoever we ask, believing, we shall receive. Faith is at the very foundation of Christianity. It is the basis of all our hopes and desires.
 Undermine this and it all falls to the ground. This is why on nearly every page of the Bible the lesson of faith is taught. It is reasonable that God should place this as a condition of pleasing Him, of salvation. Some might say it would be more sensible if God had given something tangible, that faith is an unreasonable requirement. God is not unreasonable. There is nothing more reasonable in the domain of knowledge.
 All knowledge generally rests upon faith. Columbus thought there was a country on the other side of the ocean, and worked manfully to get the ear of his prince. Finally the faith of Isabella assisted him, and the new world was found. Galileo, Kepler and Newton believed in the rotundity of the world, and afterwards it was demonstrated beyond a doubt. So matters of faith became absolute knowledge.
 Before Franklin controlled electricity he believed it could be utilized, and so it was with steam. The principle of the telephone was first believed in and afterwards demonstrated in the invention. Caesar believed in his destiny and it was afterwards won.
 Washington believed in liberty and brought it to the continental fathers.
 Destroy confidence between men and the financial scheme is undone. Through lack of faith we have political disruptures. Destroy confidence in the family circle, and what is the result?
 Destroy confidence in the social circle generally, and we would have a hell on earth. If then all knowledge and happiness rest upon faith, is it unreasonable that God should make it the foundation of salvation? The first sin ever committed was disbelief in God. So long as Adam and Eve believed in God they were happy. When Satan persuaded them into disbelief of the law, it was the violation of the law. It was the disobedience of God. The devil led them back to the first sin. God said that came back over the same way, sons and daughters of earth, that you took in violating my law. Is this unreasonable?
 The requirement of God is reasonable because of its universality. He said to all, to the president, to the white, to the nations and conditions. "Believe on Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." The time is coming when the strength from the cross will be needed.
 God comes in that hour and says I'm your leader, and know every emotion of your being, all your feelings, all your sorrows. You have trusted me, friends and they have deceived you.
 Trust in Me and I will uphold you.
 But, we say, God should save in some other way. Can one in whom a man has no trust exercise control over him?
 If not, how can God pour out His blessing, will all our weakness, when we will not take hold of His promises.
 The speaker could not understand how the heart could believe.
 The word heart referred to the mind as well. Believing with the heart includes both heart and mind. Abraham believed God and it was counted to him for righteousness, that is, he rested upon something more tangible than faith.
 He would say we must have faith in testimony before we have evidence.
 One going on a journey thinks with delight of the expected pleasures at the end of the trip. That is faith, the substance of things hoped for but not seen. So may abiding faith enable us all, as we go through life, to catch glimpses of the glory beyond and live daily in accordance with that faith.

Dr. Lawler's discourse was characterized by apt illustration and beautiful and flowing language, which no attempt is made to quote in full.

LOCALITIES.

The fire department met in adjourned session to-night.

By this time next year, Fort Worth will have close on to 30,000 population.

It is just thirty days to the meeting of the Democratic convention in this city.

A genuine knock-down was one of the sights on the square yesterday afternoon.

If the town cow stays gone two years Fort Worth will have shade trees in abundance.

There will be no protracted meeting at the Fourth street Methodist church this week as anticipated.

A fearful stretch arises from a spot just back of the jewelry shop occupying the old St. Louis store.

It is to be hoped that some effort will be made to repair Main and Houston streets during this week.

Three new three-story business houses in course of erection, and the summer building boom has not begun yet.

Nothing was learned yesterday by the officers to indicate who were the robbers of the $13,000 on Saturday night.

At all the Sunday-schools yesterday the general picnic to be had next Saturday was announced and discussed by the children.

All who propose to subscribe for a telephone and have not done so should hand in their names to-day if they wish to get them on the list now preparing for publication.

Two personal encounters occurred on Main street yesterday, between Second and Third streets. One man was pretty roughly handled, and the guilty parties were arrested.

When a Texas town can afford to tear down two-story bricks to erect in their stead stately three-story edifices, it must be a boomer. And that is what Fort Worth is now doing.

"Nobody'll ever catch me traveling around with $13,000 in my pocket," said an individual who was holding up a corner lamp-post with his bulky figure. "No," was the reply from one who was balancing the corner of the neighboring building against his back. "If any one caught you with enough to buy a couple of beers it would give you such a shock of surprise that you'd die," and the cruel crowd laughed.

Officers Neely and Coker report the peculiar actions of a drunken man on Houston street late Saturday night, who saw a huge snake in the street and used every means in his power to kill it. He hurled a number of stones at it, but only a black snake, the last thing that was seen of deluded drunk was when he was tearing madly down the street with a large stone in each hand, yelling at every jump, with the snake in hot pursuit.

Church Dedication.

Rev. Horace Bishop returned last evening from Handy, where he preached the sermon of dedication for the new church there yesterday morning. The church is a union one, its membership being composed of Baptists, Presbyterians and Methodists. The building is a handsome frame, with a seating capacity of two hundred and fifty. It cost $1,000. The building was crowded yesterday morning.
 A well-trained choir was in attention. After the sermon the sum of $250, the balance needed to pay for the building, was collected. A large Sunday-school was also organized at the church. These were the first services held in the church.

Change of Management.

At a meeting of the directors of the Loving Publishing company held Saturday afternoon in the office of the Texas Investment company, the resignation of Mr. Geo. B. Loving as general manager of the company was tendered and accepted. Mr. W. J.
 Morphy, vice-president of the company, was, by vote of the directors, invested with the powers, duties and responsibilities of the general management of the company's publications.

A Regretted Good-Bye.

The parting of Mr. Geo. B. Loving, late general manager of the Loving Publishing company, with those who have so long been associated with him in the work of the different publications of the company is a sad one to all. Mr. Loving's thoughtful consideration of all under his control, his uniform liberality and courtesy had endeared him to every man in the company's employ. Many of them had shared with him the faithful fortunes of the papers in their early existence, and all recognized in his sublime faith and tireless energy the groundwork of the success that was finally attained. No man ever left a position more to the regret of his subordinates, and the earnest wishes of every employee of the Loving Publishing company is, that long life and the highest success in all his undertakings may be his.

J. A. Wilson, traveling freight agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad, spent Sunday in this city.

E. K. Baker, division superintendent of the Erie Telephone & Telegraph company, is in the city.

Mr. C. E. Gilbert of the Abilene Reporter passed through the city yesterday, homeward bound.

Miss Carrie Reese and Lizzie and Mary Tennant of Waco are to arrive this evening. They will be the guests of Miss Eva Harrison.

Miss Lucy Ford of Weatherford, who has been spending a day or two with friends and relatives in the Fort, returned home last evening.

Dr. W. H. Harrison is very dangerously ill and his family have been telegraphed at Stephens, Ark. His wife is lying very sick at that point.

Joe Dorst, representing the jewelry firm of Keller & Uermeyer, manufacturing jewelers of New York, is in the Fort on his regular spring trip.

Jesse Good, a young man very popular in society circles, is down on a short trip from his new home at Savannah, Ga. It is rumored that very serious intentions bring him here.

For Families.

Family turnouts a specialty at the Eclipse livery stable. Telephone orders.

The best and cheapest place to buy house fronts, sash weights, ventilators, etc., is at the Fort Worth Machine and Bolter Works. Highest market price for scrap iron.

THIRD AND FOURTH WARDS.

It was reported last night that a wreck had occurred on the Transcontinental road, but nothing could be learned about it at the Union depot last night.

A special train of excursionists on their way to Midland passed through the city yesterday in charge of Dr. Ennis, land agent for the Gould system. They made only a short stay and left in a few hours after their arrival.

The street car drivers have ugly customers to deal with sometimes. Last night a drunk got in a south-bound car and refused to pay his fare. The driver expostulated with him, and finally had to fire him bodily from the car.

It is no wonder that passengers are frequently robbed at the Union depot getting on and off the trains.
 Officer Clark is entirely powerless to prevent the rash for cents. This could be obviated by a system of gates, and making each passenger show his ticket before reaching the cars.

Every smoker should try "Little Joker."
